What kind of behavior is considered sexual harassment at work or university?

- Suggestive and ambiguous comments
- Inappropriate comments and jokes about a person's appearance, clothing or private life
- Questions or comments about a person's love life or sexual orientation
- Sharing sexually explicit or pornographic content

All sexualized behavior that is not desired by the person affected is considered sexual harassment.

Staff and students at FAU who have been subjected to or have witnessed harassment of any kind can contact the Office of Equality and Diversity for anonymous and confidential advice:
